ROBBERED UP NEAR DUCKS, B. C.

Robbers Failed to Find Anything of Value and Escaped in a Boat.

Vancouver, B. C., June 22.—Six masked men armed with revolvers and rifles held up Canadian Pacific west-bound express No. 97 near Duck about midnight last night, searched three express cars, and failing to find anything of value, escaped across Schuswap lake in a skiff. A posse is in pursuit. According to members of the train crew, two men crawled over the coal pile on the locomotive, and at the points of their pistols compelled the engineer to stop when he saw a signal fire, near Duck. At this point four other robbers boarded the engine. Each carried a rifle, and two shots were fired in the air to impress the railroad men. The leader of the band forced the fireman to take an ax and break in the panels along the sides of the express cars. This failing to reveal any booty, the robbers backed away toward the lake, where they escaped in their boat. Just ahead of No. 97 was the St. Paul express, which had picked up a quantity of silver bullion, and the authorities believe this was the incentive for the hold-up.

FIRE AND FLOOD DELAYS TRAFFIC ON RIO GRANDE

Fires and floods were responsible for delayed traffic on the Denver & Rio Grande yesterday. The trains were approximately six hours late from the east. A blaze from an engine burned the 100-foot trestle over a deep gulch a short distance west of Debeque, Colo., at a late hour Monday night. The trestle is thirty-four miles east of Grand Junction.

The Grand river at Tunnel station flooded the tunnel early yesterday morning to a depth of about a foot. The tunnel is about a quarter of a mile in length and is located twenty miles east of Grand Junction. This trouble may continue to delay eastbound trains.

McGovern, who a short time ago was moved up to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Mr. Ingram from the office of general manager of the western lines of the Southern Pacific to the head of the Mexican lines, will be sent to Mexico to take that position.
